threaten the position of strength which the 6th Fleet now enjoys, then the United States must be prepared to take the action necessary to maintain that over-all strength of the 6th Fleet."

He said the fleet's strength would have to be increased should its position be threatened by "other powers with other designs on the area." At no point did the President name the Soviet Union, but that clearly was his target.

The chief executive had only one business meeting Sunday, with David K.E. Bruce, the chief American negotiator at the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, and key foreign policy advisers.

While White House sources said Nixon saw no reason to be optimistic about peace prospects at this time, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported that the President sought Bruce's views "on what could possibly be done to move the negotiations off dead center."

There had been mounting speculation that Nixon, in advance of next month's congressional elections, might unveil a new Vietnam peace initiative and speed up withdrawal of U.S. forces from the combat zone. Ziegler steadfastly declined to say yes or no on either possibility or whether Nixon soon would report to the nation on Vietnam.

"We hope, if at all possible," said Ziegler, "to make progress in bringing the conflict in South Vietnam to a conclusion through the negotiating process."

Nixon told reporters that because of his meeting with Bruce and "catching up on some of the work that accumulated during the week," he cancelled plans to make a helicopter visit Sunday to Waterville. It had been rumored he might do some salmon fishing there.

Mrs. Nixon made a day-long helicopter tour Sunday that included visits with distant relations in the village of Ballinrobe.

In Dublin, on the other side of Ireland, a small group of Irish protesters picketed the U.S. Embassy through the night, in advance of Nixon's arrival in the capital today.

A heavy police guard kept watch on the embassy during and after a Sunday afternoon demonstration by 1,000 Communist-led protesters who staged a mock trial and burned an effigy of Nixon as loudspeakers blared out an Irish reel.

The demonstrators were protesting Nixon's visit and his choice of neutral Ireland as the scene for his meeting with Bruce on Vietnam. The demonstration was orderly, well organized and good humored.

nation." The chief of staff told a news conference he would turn over the government to a junta, which would call elections by August 1972.

The government ordered a state of emergency.

Armed groups of pro-Ovando peasants were reported marching on La Paz and Cochabamba, 140 miles to the southeast. The government mobilized its forces, and the air force said it would "send planes over armed forces headquarters" if necessary. Jets buzzed La Paz and the Toledo Regiment, the army's largest and best-armed military unit, based about 25 miles from La Paz, threw its mechanized armor behind Ovando.

Ovando's cabinet ministers were reported divided between Miranda and the president, a general who took power Sept. 26, 1969, in a coup that ousted President Luis Adolfo Siles Salinas.

Thirty-three retired military officers, including two former presidents, called for Ovando's resignation on the eve of the regime's first anniversary. They, too, wanted to replace him with a junta which would set up elections.

Mrs. Jeannette Rockefeller

"We've reached a new day in Arkansas," Mrs. Jeannette Rockefeller told a group attending a reception for her at the Town and Country on Friday, October 2. She had many words of praise for her husband, Governor Winthrop Rockefeller, as she reviewed the accomplishments of his administration.

"Arkansas is getting a new industry every 38 minutes," she said and cited the increase in agriculture and tourism as well. She also pointed out that help for the disadvantaged had grown 100 per cent under the present governor.

After her arrival at the local airport earlier in the afternoon, the first lady of Arkansas visited the migrant labor center west of town with Mrs. Carter Russell, her hostess for the day. A press conference at the Rockefeller Headquarters preceded the reception.

The afternoon program opened with prayer by Mrs. Haskell Jones, and Misses Marilyn Harris and Marynell Branch presented special music. They sang "Jeannette" to the tune of "Jean" with appropriate words honoring the special guest. Mrs. Carter Russell presided over the occasion and introduced the speaker. Red, white and blue flowers and tiny American flags were used as decoration.

Representatives from Nevada, Miller, Lafayette and Hempstead Counties interrupted the speaker several times with applause. At the conclusion of Mrs. Rockefeller's remarks, the group was served a light supper from a buffet table.

Oct. 23, 1969. Commerce Commission agents stopped the truck in Hempstead County, a dry county, and discovered that Landrith had no Arkansas permit for the 997 cases of liquor.

The Supreme Court said that a presumption arose in the Circuit Court that the liquor was to be illegally diverted into the county and that consequently seizure of the shipment was appropriate.

However, the hearing revealed that Cactus Distributing Co. was licensed in Kentucky and Arizona, had met all federal license requirements and had received cross-country shipments of liquor at least once each month for three years without violating any law.

"In view of these facts, it is obvious that an extremely harsh penalty has been imposed upon appellant (Cactus Distributing) in this interstate shipment, for a violation that was beyond its control and despite its good faith efforts to comply with state and federal laws," Holt wrote.

He said confiscation of alcoholic contraband could be justified in some instances under Arkansas law, but "the application of such a penalty must be reasonable, and this requirement must be tested by the facts in each particular case," the Supreme Court said.

KENT STATE

the Ohio National Guard all declined comment.

They noted they are under court order not to discuss the issue until a state grand jury finishes hearings.

The document represented the completion of the commission's three-month probe into violence on the nation's campuses.

General recommendations were unveiled a week ago, and detailed findings were released Thursday on the shooting deaths of two students at Jackson State College, also termed unjustified.

The Kent State report said the Guard had committed "a serious error" in attempting to disperse what was, at first, a peaceful gathering.

The subsequent burst of 61 shots within a 13-second period, without any apparent order to open fire, "cannot be justified," the commission said.

The report rejected claims of sniper fire.

In hundreds of interviews, three days of hearings and 8,000 pages of FBI reports, "nothing was found to indicate that anyone other than a guardsman discharged a firearm during the incident," it said.

But Lt. Col. J. E. P. McCann, an aide to Del Corso, said in Ohio Sunday, "Our policies haven't changed. We still feel the individual at the very least is entitled to protect himself, realizing, of course, that when they put ammunition in the rifles is up to the commander on the scene. The men will be armed and issued ammunition."

Of the violence committed by some of the Kent State students, Commission Chairman William W. Scranton, former Republican governor of Pennsylvania, said:

"Those who wreaked havoc on the town of Kent, those who burned the ROTC building, those who attacked and stoned National Guardsmen, and all those who urged them on and applauded their deeds, share the responsibility for the deaths and injuries of May 4.

gress' intent in attaching an anti-busing provision to the 1964 civil rights law and the extent of desegregation required by the Constitution.

The hearing, lasting about eight hours, will continue into Tuesday. The eventual decision could rival in significance all school rulings since the pivotal declaration in 1954 that racially separate public schools are unconstitutional.

The legality of the Vietnam war is challenged in a suit by the state of Massachusetts. Unlike the school cases, the court has not said whether it will consider the issue. The Justice Department has advised against a hearing, cautioning that deliberations by the court could restrict the President and embarrass the nation.

Massachusetts contends the conflict is unconstitutional because Congress has not formally declared war. The Justice Department says Congress has indicated its support of U.S. participation in several ways, especially by authorizing billions of dollars for the fight.

The capital punishment issue will come before the court for the third consecutive term. As before, the question is not whether the death penalty is constitutional. Rather, it is whether juries should be governed by explicit standards and whether consideration of the sentence should be split off from the rest of the trial.

The ruling could affect all but a handful of the nation's condemned prisoners.

Since secrecy prevails, no one knows for sure why the court has been unable to reach a decision. One possibility is that a tie-breaking ninth vote was lacking last term as Abe Fortas' seat went unfilled. The new justice, Harry A. Blackmun, could prove to be the key man.

Voting, obscenity, church-state, abortion and draft cases also pepper the docket with controversy and importance.

Approval of the 1970 voting rights law would give the vote to 18-year-olds in all 50 states and the District of Columbia, abolish literacy tests in 13 states, eliminate all but the most lenient residence requirements for voting for president and ease absentee voting in 30 states.

The obscenity review centers on the Swedish film "I Am Curious (Yellow)," an underground Dallas newspaper and the flow of racy material across the borders and through the mail. A key question is whether the states can control movie fare for adults.

On the explosive church-state front, the court will examine the 1963 federal law that has authorized millions of dollars of construction grants to church-run colleges and universities.

The court also will weigh the use of a horserace tax to finance the teaching of secular subjects in church schools in Pennsylvania, use of state funds to supplement lay teachers' salaries in Rhode Island, and the busing of parochial school children at taxpayers' expense in West Virginia.

Abortion laws are under challenge as being too vaguely worded for a physician to determine when he may operate legally to save a woman's life and when an operation would be criminal. Beyond that, the court is being asked to recognize the private right of women to seek an abortion without fear of punishment.

The court has agreed to hear the vagueness issue, but has not indicated yet whether it will consider the larger, privacy question.

The major draft cases carded for argument concern a plea for conscientious objector status for young men who have religious or humanitarian scruples against the Vietnam war but are not opposed to all wars.

Discusses Pollution

LADD DAVIES

"Our current problem is two-fold—to prevent new pollution and to abate current pollution," said Ladd Davies of the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission in a talk at the Hope Rotary Club's weekly luncheon meeting in the Town and Country last Friday. Dorsey McRae introduced the speaker, who told the club that the biggest problems of pollution are city sewage, industry, agriculture and natural causes. He said that the affluence of our present society is also greatly responsible for our increase in waste products that add to our pollution problem. After discussing waste and air pollution, the speaker answered questions from the floor.

MIAMI, Okla. (AP) — Seven prisoners in the Ottawa County jail overpowered a jailer early Sunday and escaped, carrying knives taken from the kitchen.

The jailer was not injured. Deputy Sheriff H.C. Klaus said most of the prisoners are classified as dangerous, adding, "they would be doubly dangerous if they could get their hands on a gun."

Klaus said the jailer, Bill Hasseberg, was overpowered when he delivered some medicine and magazines to the inmates shortly after midnight.

"The men then forced him into the cell and locked him and several trustys up inside," Klaus said. Then they broke out a glass door and escaped, he said.

GOPs Are Told Nixon Keeping His Promise

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two speakers told the Republican State Convention here Saturday that President Nixon was keeping his promise of ending the war in Vietnam and uniting the nation.

Robert L. Kunzig, administrator of the General Services Administration, said the President had succeeded in reducing the involvement of the United States in the Vietnam War.

Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said that 530,000 Americans were serving in Vietnam when Nixon took office, but the number now had dwindled to 390,000.

Hammerschmidt, who accepted nomination for re-election at the convention, said that Nixon also made progress in uniting people at home.

MRS. WILLIAM L. MCKENZIE

In a candlelight ceremony at the First United Methodist Church Saturday, October 3, Miss Josephine Margaret Waddle became the bride of William LeRoy McKenzie. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Briant Waddle, and he is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jim McKenzie.

Bronze and yellow pom mums were used as floral decoration with spiral candelabra holding yellow tapers. These were lighted by Joseph Purvis of Shreveport and Malcolm Hinton of Little Rock. The organist, Harold Sweitzer of Magnolia, played a program of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Clarence Geist when she sang "O Lord Most Holy" before the exchange of vows and "O Perfect Love" as the couple lighted a union candle to conclude the ceremony.

The Rev. Norris Steele performed the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had an organza gown designed in an Empire silhouette. Venise lace formed the high neckline and deep yoke.

The lace ornamented the Camelot sleeves and reappeared in vertical bands on the wateau train that fell to chapel length. Her tiered veil of illusion fell from a profile bandeau of matching Venise lace. She carried her grandmother Waddle's wedding glove, and her wedding bouquet was of yellow pom mums, fleur d'amour and stephanotis.

Mrs. Michael Rhodes of El Dorado was the matron of honor. She wore a formal-length gown of moss green trimmed in mint green. It was made on Empire lines with bell sleeves. In her hair were fru-fru bows of Tulle, and she carried a cascade bouquet of bronze and yellow mums.

The bridesmaids were dressed identically to the honor attendant. They were Mrs. Richard Bates of El Dorado, Mrs. Joseph Purvis of Shreveport, Miss Mary Jane Smith of Stephens and Miss Paula McClellan, cousin of the bride.

Dr. McKenzie served his son as best man.

Groomsmen who also served as ushers were David Waddle, brother of the bride; David McKenzie of Little Rock, brother of the groom; V. H. Nix, Jr. of Memphis; and Stephen Stone of Fayetteville.

Yellow ribbon and candles with bronze and yellow mums marked the pews for the families of the wedding couple. Mrs. Waddle, mother of the bride, wore pink chiffon and ribbon lace with matching accessories. She pinned a pink throated white orchid at her shoulder. Mrs. McKenzie, mother of the groom, wore turquoise ribbon lace with matching accessories. Her corsage was a yellow cymbidium orchid.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Hope Country Club. Guests were invited into the clubhouse by Mrs. Paul McClellan. They were served punch and wedding cake from a table decorated with bronze and yellow mums by Mrs. David McKenzie of Little Rock, Mrs. Fredrick Pultz of Memphis, Mrs. Paul Waddle of Shreveport, and Mrs. Howard Waddle.

At a table holding a memory candle and the bride's bouquet, Mrs. V. H. Nix, Jr. of Memphis, sister of the groom, presided at the bride's book. Others dispensing hospitality were Miss Mary Jo McClellan, Mrs. James Pride, Mrs. Dale Estes of El Dorado, Miss Martha Jane Flowers, Mrs. A. R. Peterson, Mrs. Cecil Wyatt, Mrs. Henry Haynes, and Mrs. Robert Turner.

A white knit dress with a brown jacket was the bride's choice for travel. She pinned a

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Boone, weary and bored after several successful seasons playing in "Have Gun, Will Travel," asserted that no television series should be allowed to continue beyond two seasons.

He changed his mind after the short life of his ambitious "Richard Boone Show" a short time later. But the truth is that many series after a few seasons do start looking a bit shopworn and the actors go through their paces in a perfunctory way. The big difficulty, however, is to keep the scripts fresh. Motion pictures may be a director's medium, but in television, now more than ever, the key people are the writers.

"Bonanza," the strong central block of NBC's Sunday night lineup, is now starting its 12th season as one of the most popular programs on the air with almost no signs of flagging. The mix of characters in the three members of the Cartwright family and the Old West background

Out-of-town guests for the wedding and reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Waddle, Ray and Alan, Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Yarbrough, El Dorado; David Waddle, Jr., Texarkana; Mr. and Mrs. David McKenzie, Mark, Brad and Kathy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker, Miss Caroline Eldson, Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Pultz, Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Logan, Gilliam, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eldson, Conway.

Following the wedding rehearsal on Friday, October 2, Dr. and Mrs. Jim McKenzie entertained with a dinner at the Heritage House for members of the families and those in the wedding.

Green Fuji mums and candles decorated the tables where covers were laid for 28. The wedding couple chose that time to present gifts to their attendants.

OLIVE BRANCH MIGHT LICK THE PROBLEM

Dear Helen:

Our neighbors, let's call them Families A and B were good friends. Each has four children, and when they got together in one yard or another, the noise was terrific—but at least the kids didn't bother other residents.

Then Family A got mad at Family B over a water battle. The yelling and screaming—you wouldn't believe! Then, strained silence, and the children not allowed to see each other.

Result? Offspring of both families run the neighborhood, creating all kinds of problems. The noise when they played together was nothing compared to the hassle of trying to keep them from ruining our yards. I actually think they do damage so the other family will be blamed and get into more trouble. We're all suffering from this feud.

None of us cares much for either neighbor but, in the interests of our sanity, how can we get them on friendly terms again so we can get their kids off our backs? —OVER RUN

Dear Over Run:

A two-pronged olive branch might lick your problem. Why not type out two "We're sorry—let's be friends again" notes signed with Family A and B initials respectively; then send give it flavor, flexibility and stability, but the secret of "Bonanza's" success really is that each week a pretty good story is offered.

The most recent episode was a good example of sheer entertainment. It turned an assortment of stock Western characters into a nice little action drama. A criminal was being transported to a territorial prison and escaped. He knocked out Hoss Cartwright and escaped with his horse and saddle. The lawman in charge of the prison van found the unconscious Hoss and rather than admit losing a prisoner, assigned him the escapee's identity, put him in irons and resumed the trip.

The rest of the hour was full of escapes and shooting, with Hoss tossing in just a tiny little moral lesson at the end. But the good guys prevailed and the bad guys were put out of business. And if Lorne Greene, Mike London and Dan Blocker can keep on riding, the series should be good for another 12 years.

"Adam 12," a Saturday night NBC entry, is the only "realistic" police story left on the networks now that "Dragnet" has been shelved. It purports to follow a team of Los Angeles patrol car officers through a tour of duty, and sometimes they cope with as many as six incidents ranging from lost dogs to homicide in a half hour.

The program this weekend got away from the format, since the action was all prepped on one hostile young criminal who kept the officers busy. They finally caught him trying to mug an old lady—a decoy—and it ended up with a tragic confrontation between the hysterical boy and his father.

Broncos Are Surprising Everyone

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Denver Broncos, a dog-eared doormat in pro football dungeons for years, finally pulled the rug from under the Kansas City Chiefs ... and let the sun shine in.

"This was a big win—probably the highest since we came here," chorled Coach Lou Saban after his perennial lambs turned into tigers and shelled the powerhouse Chiefs 26-13 in the National Football League Sunday.

"The boys played well," added the jubilant Saban, "it took a lot of people to get a victory like this. All you can say is that it was a great team effort. I know it's a cliché ... but it's about all you can say."

If Saban was caught with his quips down, it was no wonder. Sunday's success was the first time since 1964 that the Broncos have beaten the Chiefs, last year's Super Bowl champs. In fact, Denver has mastered Kansas City only twice in its history.

The Broncos never have had a winning year since 1960 and the closest they've come was a 7-7 mark in 1962. Among 13 pastings they've taken from the Chiefs are scores of 59-7 and 52-21 in 1963, 56-10 in 1966 and 52-9 in 1967.

PS: Sunday's victory gave Denver a 3-0 mark this year.

The Bronco buster paced a pattern of turnovers on Black Sunday. Green Bay upset Minnesota 13-10, beating the Vikings for the first time at home since 1965; Buffalo derailed the highly-favored New York Jets 34-31 and St. Louis pulled off a 20-7 shocker over Dallas' high-powered Cowboys. Los Angeles won as expected, rolling over San Diego 37-10; Washington stalled the Philadelphia Eagles 33-21; Atlanta slipped by San Francisco 21-20; New Orleans knocked off the New York Giants 14-10, the Baltimore Colts turned the tables on underdog Boston, grabbing a comeback 14-6 victory and Houston bulldozed Cincinnati 20-13.

The Broncos' manhandling defense played get-the-quarterback, and got to Kansas City ace Len Dawson seven times.

Bob Howfield, Denver's former soccer player from England, kicked four field goals, one for 47 yards. The ferocious Bronco defenders let the big, rough Chiefs score only one touchdown—a 52-yard drive late in the fourth period.

Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr, listed as a questionable starter because of injuries, played the entire game. He moved his team within field goal range for two three-pointers, and Dave Hampton provided the Pack with a 101-yard touchdown run on a kickoff in the fourth quarter.

"It was a vicious defensive game," said Starr, "it was very rough and if you can win one like this, you've got to be pleased. In this kind of game, neither side gets a better system generated. The breaks make the difference."

Dennis Shaw, cucumber-cool under fire in his rookie season, passed for two touchdowns for Buffalo. His last scoring strike was the clincher—a 25-yarder to Marlin Briscoe with 7:20 left. Joe Namath also threw two TD passes for the Jets.

Jim Hart, booed for inept passing in the first two quarters, pitched two scoring strikes in the last half as the Cardinals hog-tied Dallas.

The Rams took the opening kickoff and slammed 73 yards to paydirt to open the scoring and set the tone for their victory over chargeless San Diego. Los Angeles' trigger-quick defense snatched four John Hadl passes in the first half and the Rams converted three of them into field goals.

Washington handed Philadelphia an early touchdown, then repulsed the Eagles with an alert defense. The Redskins limited the Eagles to only three plays from scrimmage in the third period.

Tom McCauley scrambled 42 yards with a fumble recovery and set up a seven-yard TD

Razorbacks Smash TCU Convincingly

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks put it all together Saturday night for a 49-14 victory over TCU.

The Porkers netted 658 yards against the Horned Frogs, one of the highest totals ever in a Southwest Conference game. Arkansas had 362 yards passing and 296 rushing.

Tailback Bill Burnett, the leading touchdown maker in Southwest Conference history, blasted TCU for four scores.

Burnett, a 185-pound senior, tallied on runs of 13, four, two and three yards on spinning, twisting forays through the Horned Frog line.

Quarterback Bill Montgomery connected for 13 of 20 passes for 265 yards and one touchdown — a two yard pass to tight end Pat Morrison.

The victory placed the Razorbacks in a tie with Texas at the top of the SWC standings.

The Razorbacks took advantage of TCU's crowding secondary to go for the bomb several times — including a 62-yard pass from Montgomery to Chuck Dicus.

"You've got to put your strength against their inexperience," Broyles said. TCU started four sophomores in its secondary.

The Razorbacks' total yardage figure surprised Broyles, but he admitted his team's execution is improving.

"Montgomery is operating the option play and the passing game," Broyles said. "It takes eight or nine players to cover the option and when you're hitting the passes to go with it, you can make some yardage."

"It's obvious we're not much better than TCU," Broyles said. "They missed a couple of passes at critical times and we won the battle of third downs."

Broyles said defensive tackle Dick Bumpas played one of the best games he has seen a line-man play during his 13 years as Arkansas coach.

"He knocked down two passes, hurried (TCU quarterback Steve) Judy into bad throws and made tackles all over the field," Broyles said.

The Razorbacks continue Southwest Conference play Saturday against Baylor.

pitch from Bob Berry to Gail Cogdill, moving Atlanta over San Francisco. The 49ers missed a chance at victory when Bruce Gossett failed to hit a field goal from the 19-yard line in the closing seconds.

Cornback Elijah Nevett picked off two Fran Tarkenton passes to help the New Orleans' cause. His first interception in the second quarter set up a Saints' score and his second killed a Giant drive in the last quarter.

Ailing Johnny Unitas came off the bench and threw a clinching TD pass with two minutes to go, leading Baltimore's come-from-behind triumph over the Patriots.

Charley Johnson pitched six completed passes in an 80-yard touchdown drive in the fourth quarter for Houston's winning points over Cincinnati's clawless Bengals.

Cleveland beat Pittsburgh 15-7 and Miami dropped Oakland 20-13 in Saturday night games.

Archie Hot, Plunkett Wasn't

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The difference Saturday between quarterbacks Jim Plunkett of Stanford and Archie Manning was like night and day.

After unheralded Purdue intercepted Plunkett five times, dumped him five times for losses totaling 41 yards and upset third-ranked Stanford 26-14 in the afternoon, Manning and seventh-rated Mississippi took the field under the lights before a national television audience and overwhelmed Alabama 48-23.

Randy Cooper picked off three of Plunkett's passes and Darryl Stingley got the other two interceptions as Stanford's golden arm suffered through the roughest day of his career.

Even Purdue's sophomore quarterback, Chuck Piebes, overshadowed Plunkett by completing 15 of 20 passes.

"We got whipped in every way, shape and form," said Stanford's John Ralston. "They were a better team. We were flat. I'll take full responsibility for that. Let's just say we underestimated their ability. But we'll be mentally sharp and ready to play next week against Southern Cal. You can bet on that."

Purdue's Bob DeMoss said he "had no special defense for Plunkett. We just didn't show him too much of one thing. We tried to change up on him a lot. If you sit in one defense too long he'll just pick you apart."

Manning, meanwhile, riddled 17th-ranked Alabama—whose own quarterback, Scott Hunter, was sidelined with a shoulder separation—for three touchdown passes and he scored twice himself.

"Archie's just a great print out quarterback," said Ole Miss Coach Johnny Vaughn. "Everybody knows what he's going to do, but they just can't stop it."

Vernon Studdard raced 100 yards with a kickoff as the Rebels built a 26-3 lead in the first half.

Besides Stanford, the only other member of the Associated Press' Top Ten teams to taste defeat was eight-ranked Colorado, which dropped a 21-20 heart-breaker to Kansas State. Lynn Dickey's two touchdown passes, Henry Hawthorne's running and a pair of field goals by Max Arreguin helped the Wildcats to their 21 points but it took a missed conversion by Colorado's Dave Haney, who had made 32 in a row, to provide the margin of victory.

Top-ranked Ohio State put the clamps on Duke's strong-armed Leo Hart and got its own ground game rolling in the second half for a 34-10 victory over the Blue Devils. Rex Kern, Leo Hayden and John Brockington each ran for more than 100 yards but the Buckeyes may have lost flashy Larry Zelina for a while with a hamstring pull.

Second-ranked Texas needed one of its routine miracle finishes to pull out a 20-17 squeaker over No. 13 UCLA. A 45-yard touchdown pass from Eddie Phillips to Cotton Speyrer with only 12 seconds left lifted the Longhorns to their 23rd consecutive triumph, longest in the nation and most ever by a Southwest Conference team.

Notre Dame, rated fourth, steamrollered Michigan State 29-0, ending a string of nine winless games at East Lansing, Mich. Fifth-ranked Southern Cal blasted Oregon State 45-13 with Jimmy Jones throwing for 304 yards and three touchdowns.

Nebraska, No. 6, whipped Minnesota 35-10 as little Guy Ingles snagged two scoring passes. Ninth-ranked Michigan got its spark from a substitute running back for the second straight week—this time second-string fullback Fritz Searf— and downed Texas A&M 14-10. Ernie Jennings caught eight passes and scored three times, setting school records for career touchdowns and points, as 10th-rated Air Force trounced Colorado State 37-22.

Bill Burnett, the SWC's leading career scorer, pounded across for four touchdowns to lead No. 11 Arkansas past Texas Christian 49-14. No. 12 Auburn turned back Kentucky 33-15 on the passing of Pat Sullivan and Wallace Calhoun's 84-yard kickoff return.

West Virginia No. 14, got by Indiana 16-10 with Jim Braxton scoring all the points and Brent Cunningham set a Georgia Tech rushing mark of 217 yards in the 15th-ranked Yellowjackets' 28-7

Pirates Are Two Behind the Redlegs

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati holds a 2-0 lead over Pittsburgh today in the best-of-five National League playoff, but Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh says he isn't ready to slit his throat and Reds skipper Sparky Anderson isn't shouting for the champagne.

Murtaugh, the doughty Pittsburgh boss, was shaving after the Pirates 3-1 loss to the Reds Sunday, the second straight defeat in their home stadium, when someone asked him if it was throat-slitting time.

"No way," retorted little Dan-ni, careful to lower the razor as he spoke.

"I thought this was three out of five," he added. "We've won three in a row a lot of times. I know it's tough, but you never give up until there are no chances left."

Anderson should have been supremely confident, needing one victory and with the rest of the series scheduled in River Front Stadium here. If he was, he managed to hide it. Sitting behind a desk in his visiting team office, the Reds' pilot explained his uneasy feeling.

"We were beat by San Diego three straight (at San Diego), so why can't Pittsburgh beat us three straight?" he asked. "I don't think the odds were too good for Pittsburgh to lose two straight in Pittsburgh. I'm happy to be leading 2-0, but I can't be pleased until we win three—I can't be."

While Cincinnati has won the first two games in the series, the Reds didn't do it in Big Red Machine style—with power. Instead, they won with solid pitching and scratched for runs. Maybe this is why Anderson is apprehensive.

Take the second game Sunday, for example. It wasn't the big bats of National League home run and RBI king Johnny Bench or the power of Tony Perez that turned the trick. It was a one-man show by Bobby Tolan, a St. Louis Cardinals discard two seasons ago.

The slim, 170-pound Tolan, who led the major leagues in stolen bases this season, turned on his speed in the third to provide the Reds' first run.

He singled up the middle, stole second and continued to third when Pittsburgh catcher Manny Sanguillen threw the ball into center field. The Pirates' starter, lefty Luke Walker, was upset and he uncorked a wild pitch, Tolan scoring.

Then, in the fifth, Tolan caught a fast ball, waist high and down the middle, and slammed it over the right-center field fence for a home run to make it 2-0.

After the Pirates closed the gap 2-1, Tolan singled in the eighth and, with a burst of speed, scored all the way from first on Perez' double.

In addition to Tolan, the Reds' hero list included 19-year-old Don Gullett, who still can't believe he's pitching in a National League playoff when only last year he was a high school pitcher.

Gullett relieved in the sixth with one run home and the Pirates still threatening. There were two on base with power-hitting Willie Stargell coming to the plate.

The left-hander from Lynn, Ky., threw his money pitch, a fast ball, and Stargell fled out. Gullett finished up 3 1-3 innings of relief without allowing a hit.

Anderson said Tony Cline-gar, 9-7, would start for the Reds in today's third game, while Murtaugh will go with Bob Moose, 11-10, or Bob Veale, 10-15, depending on how Moose's tender elbow feels.

Ump Strike Ends But May Return Soon

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Hello, Bill. This is Harry," said the voice over the telephone from Pittsburgh to Minneapolis.

"I think we've cracked the nut here. Get all the guys together in one room and stand by. Have them ready to work. They are bargaining in good faith."

With those words spoken by National League umpire Harry Wendelstedt in Pittsburgh to his American League colleague Bill Haller in Minneapolis, the end of the first umpires' strike in baseball history was signaled.

But, surprisingly, it also signaled what could become an even more tense situation by the time the World Series begins next Saturday—for the possibility exists that the umpires will again be placard-carrying pickets.

That prospect was brought about by the nature of Sunday's settlement between the striking umpires and the owners, actually an agreement to return to work while negotiations continued.

But while neither Chub Feeney, the National League president, nor Jack Reynolds, the lawyer for the Major League Umpires Association, mentioned any deadline for reaching agreement, the umpires insisted there was one.

"We'll threaten them with another strike if they don't settle," said Augie Donatelli.

"They're going to have to reach agreement before the World Series," added Doug Harvey.

And Wendelstedt echoed those words with a symbolic gesture, refusing to discard the placard he had been carrying with him that read: "Major League umpires on strike for wages."

The implication that he might have to use it again was brought about by the fact that the umpires went back to work at the National League playoffs in Pittsburgh and the American League playoffs in Minneapolis under terms of the old offer from the owners.

Having insisted previously that they be paid $5,000 for the playoffs and $10,000 for the World Series, the umpires resumed calling balls and strikes for $3,000 in the playoffs.

That was the original offer made by the owners, a $500 per man increase over the previous year's scale. A $500 increase also has been offered for the World Series that would lift the umpires' pay at that event to $7,000.

Negotiations now will resume, aimed presumably at effecting a contract prior to the World Series. Reynolds apparently thought that could be done when he appeared with Feeney to announce that agreement had been reached.

"We believe they will bargain in good faith," Reynolds said. "They have assured us that."

That assurance came after a long morning for the striking umpires, 13 of whom ringed the ball park at strategic points and precipitated a situation in which ushers, ticket takers, concessionaires, groundskeepers, electricians and plumbers refused to cross the picket lines.

It was just what Reynolds wanted when he selected Pittsburgh rather than Minneapolis as the place to throw up the picket lines.

"We felt the friendly atmosphere of the local union labor movement would help us," Reynolds said.

And it apparently did. About two hours before game time, and with no one working inside Three Rivers Stadium, Reynolds was called off the picket lines for a meeting with Feeney.

Agreement resulted that sent the six regularly scheduled umpires back to work in place of the four-man minor league crew that had taken over Saturday in the absence of the striking major league players.

Harvey expressed considerable displeasure about those four umpires—John Grimley and Fred Blandford of the American Association and Henry Morgenweck and George Grygiel of the International League.

"I feel as any working man whose salary is undercut while he is talking about a raise," said Harvey.

Both the six-man major league crew will receive the same amount of money for the playoffs—$3,000.

The major leaguers worked Sunday for that and will have to work until the playoffs end.

The minor leaguers, on the other hand, get the entire sum for their one day's work.

The name Giselle means "pledge."

U.S. Women Dramatically Beat France

MADRID (AP) — The U.S. women's golf trio that won the World Team Championship by a single stroke from France in a dramatic finish as any tournament director could imagine broke up Sunday for a separate European tour before returning home.

Martha Wilkinson, of Whittier, Calif., who withstood the tremendous pressure of an unexpected finish to pick up four strokes Saturday in the last threesome involving the leaders, and Cynthia Hill of St. Petersburg, Fla., planned to visit Barcelona, Italy, Germany, France and Britain.

Then they will stop off in Boston to visit Mrs. Henri Prunier, the nonplaying captain of the American team.

Jane Bastenbury of Whittier, Calif., will tour the continent plus England, Scotland and Ireland with her parents before returning to Arizona State University at Tucson as an instructor.

The final round of the tournament started as anti-climax and steadily built up more excitement than a movie scenario.

France started the day leading by two strokes. The three leaders—France, the United States and Canada—were placed in the same threesome so that head to head play developed.

Mrs. Claudine Cros Rubin of France finished in 76, while Miss Bastenbury took a 77, putting France three strokes ahead. Then Miss Hill came in with a 78, and Brigitte Varangot of France with a 79.

Only the two best scores of the day counted, so it was quickly assumed—correctly—that these scores would not count.

That put it up to the final players, Miss Wilkinson and Mrs. Catherine LaCoste de Prado, the daughter of oldtime French tennis ace Rene LaCoste. Both made the turn one over par with 38s.

There seemed little hope that Miss Wilkinson could pick up three strokes to throw the tournament into a playoff, or four strokes to win, in the last nine.

But Mrs. De Prado missed a 30-inch putt at the 10th, then she was short with her approach at the 12th. She missed a three-foot putt at the 15th, and she three-putted the 18th green from 25 feet. These were all bogeys, and left France four strokes behind.

Miss Wilkinson dropped a 15-foot putt at the 12th for a birdie, but gave the stroke back at the 13th when she three-putted from 50 feet.

The suspense went right up to the 18th green, where Miss Wilkinson was before the green about 30 feet from the cup. She chipped up to two feet.

Then Mrs. De Prado made one final desperate effort. Her 25-foot putt barely slid by about two inches from the hole.

Miss Wilkinson completely mastered her nerves and dropped the putt for a 74. Mrs. De Prado had to settle for a 78. That gave the United States a 72-hole team score of 598 and France 599. South Africa was third with 606 and Canada fourth with 610. Sally Little, 19-year-old South African who could easily have been elected beauty queen of the tournament, had the low individual score with 299.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset

Wonder Boys Win Over Henderson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas Tech pushed its Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference record to 2-0 Saturday night with a 23-7 victory over Henderson.

The Wonder Boys, favored to win the AIC championship, came through with a second half surge to upend the defending champions.

In other AIC games Saturday night, Southern State defeated Harding 25-14. Ouachita whipped Mississippi College 50-28. Arkansas AM&N topped Arkansas A&M 39-13 and Northeast Missouri defeated State College of Arkansas 24-14.

AM&N took advantage of three A&M fumbles to defeat the Aggies in the Sight Bowl at Pine Bluff. AM&N's Donald Bell threw touchdown strikes of nine and seven yards while en route to the victory.

SCA held Northeast Missouri even for a half as Lamonte Bolding and Darrell Hatchett picked up TDs for a 14-14 tie. Two Northeast Missouri marches that netted a touchdown and a field goal in the second half accounted for the Bears' fourth loss of the season.

Ouachita sophomore tailback Johnny Baker and sophomore quarterback Barry Bennett ripped Mississippi College with five touchdowns in the second half for the 50-28 triumph. Baker, AIC's leading rusher, rushed up 230 yards running.

Freshman quarterback Phil Brooks led Southern State to a conference victory over Harding. Brooks passed for 182 yards and three touchdowns in

Citadel Is Victim of A-State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas State University did not disappoint Red Parker, coach of The Citadel.

"We told everyone how good Arkansas State is," Parker said after his Bulldogs had lost Saturday night 24-7 to ASU. "They did a great job. I don't think anybody will beat them this year."

ASU Coach Bennie Ellender praised the Indian offensive line for an excellent job of blocking for tailback Calvin Harrell and fullback Marshall Walls.

Harrell set up two touchdowns with his bull-like running and scored once during the game.

Harrell, a 213-pound junior who led the Southland Conference in rushing last season, set a school record with 252 yards on 43 carries. He scored the Indians' third touchdown on a seven-yard burst in the fourth quarter.

Quarterback James Hamilton scored twice from one yard out and Bobby Gentry completed the ASU scoring with a 39-yard field goal.

The Bulldogs' only touchdown came on a three-yard run by tailback Bob Duncan early in the third period and was set up when Duncan hooked up with Brian Baima on a 52-yard pass play.

Despite a decisive edge in statistics, ASU led only 10-7 entering the final period. However, when the teams switched ends of the field the Indians were in the middle of a 58-yard scoring drive that clinched the victory.

During the drive, Harrell carried five times for 49 yards. The Indians, while making the Bulldogs their third straight victim, evened an old score.

Sanudo Wins the $60,000 Azalea Open

By REESE HART

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Cesar Sanudo made it plain this weekend that he isn't an unknown golfer anymore.

He took care of that by winning the $60,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament Sunday when third-round leader Bobby Mitchell faltered with bogies on the last three holes.

"They were calling me an unknown, but I'm not an unknown now," said the happy 26-year-old from San Diego, Calif. He put together rounds of 66, 68, 68 and 67 for 269, 15 under par.

Mitchell 27, of Danville, Va., had a four-stroke lead going into the final round. Sanudo narrowed the gap until Mitchell eagled the par-five 15 to hold a two-stroke edge. But Mitchell three-putted the next three holes to finish with a 72 for 270.

He missed a five-foot putt on the 18th that would have sent the tournament into a playoff.

It was Sanudo's first victory in 20 months on the tour and earned him $12,000. Mitchell received $6,840.

John Schlee won third place with a final-round, nine-under-par 62 to break the Cape Fear Country Club course competitive record. He finished at 271.

Bob Stanton and Hugh Royer tied for fourth place with 272. Mason Rudolph and Rolf Deming were next at 273, followed by Al Balding and Howell Fraser at 274.

Defending champion Dale Douglass was at 275 with Ted Hayes, Wilf Homeniuk, Joe Campbell and Labron Harris.

Bunny Hines, president of the sponsoring Wilmington Athletic Association said the future of the tournament remains in doubt because of poor attendance and lack of big-name entries. Despite good weather, attendance was way below that of past years, Hines said. He declined to give an estimate on the four-day turnout.

The purse was boosted this year from $35,000 to $60,000 and the tournament was switched from spring to fall. Hines said the PGA has made no commitment on dates for 1971.

Takeover Try in Bolivia Has Failed

By HAROLD OLMOS
Associated Press Writer
LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Retaining control of two important regiments and the air force, Bolivian President Alfredo Ovando Candia apparently weathered an attempt by the army chief of staff to overthrow him Sunday, a week after his military regime's first anniversary.

"I want neither war nor bloodshed, but I am here to rule the destiny of the nation," the president told a crowd Sunday night from the balcony of the presidential palace. He had returned to La Paz from Santa Cruz, 350 miles away.

There was no report of shooting by Sunday night, but Maj. Ruben Sanchez, commander of the Colorado Regiment guarding the palace, said the rebels had to give up unconditionally or "there will be no solution but to fight." His soldiers were posted on the balconies and at the windows of the palace with orders to shoot if threatened officers said.

Three of Ovando's ministers met in military headquarters with Gen. Rogelio Miranda, the rebel leader, and reported that "it seems they are going to surrender." Miranda made no comment.

Miranda demanded Ovando's resignation in an early morning broadcast over the army's radio station, charging that the Ovando government "has frustrated the hopes of the people and the armed forces and has not interpreted correctly the aims of the

Kent State Blamed on Both Sides

By LEE BYRD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential task force has denounced the Ohio National Guard's fatal shooting of four students and wounding of nine others at Kent State University last May 4 as "unnecessary, unwarranted and inexcusable."

The Commission on Campus Unrest condemned the violent actions of some students, terming them intolerable, but said the confrontation "was not a danger which called for lethal force."

The judgments were contained in a 22,500-word investigative report, released Sunday night, which focused exclusively on the Kent State incident. "The ... tragedy must surely mark the last time that loaded rifles are issued as a matter of course to guardsmen confronting student demonstrators," declared the panel.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court returned from a 13-week recess today facing a docket bulging with cases that could determine the pace of school desegregation, the legality of the Vietnam war and the fate of hundreds of persons occupying death rows.

The actual opening of the new term is marked by a half-hour ceremony, beginning serenely with the trooping of the nine black-robed justices to their places behind the tall mahogany bench, the intonation by a marshal of the start of a new session and the swearing-in of up to 100 lawyers to practice before the high court.

The remainder of the work week the justices will consider hundreds of appeals at private conferences and decide which few score to hear and which many, many more to reject out of hand.

These decisions will be announced next Monday, but will be overshadowed by a larger event that day: oral argument of school cases from Charlotte, N.C., Mobile, Ala., and Athens, Ga., that present all facets of the current school desegregation debate.

These include the legitimacy of mass busing to achieve racially balanced schools, Con-

Memorial to Whichita S. Grid Players

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Classes were canceled today to allow Wichita State University students to take part in a series of memorial services for 13 WSU football players and a trainer killed in a plane crash in the Colorado Rockies.

The toll in the crash climbed to 30 today with the death of trainer Tom Reeves in Lutheran Hospital in Denver. Reeves had suffered severe burns over most of his body. Ten survived the crash.

The observances will be climaxed tonight by a public memorial service in Cessna Stadium, the school's 28,000-seat football arena.

Meanwhile, heavy tractors headed for the crash scene on Mt. Bethel near Silver Plume, Colo., to try to drag out the twin engines from the Martin 404 which carried the players and 16 other persons to their deaths last Friday. The team had been scheduled to play Utah State the following day. The game was canceled.

Laboratory tests proceeded on samples of the fuel the plane, bound for Logan, Utah, took aboard at Denver shortly before the crash.

Investigators of the National Transportation Safety Board said they hoped examination of the engines and fuel would provide clues to the loss of power by the plane which apparently preceded the crash.

One survivor, split end John Taylor, 21, remained in critical condition from burns.

Brian Dunbar, information officer for the Safety Board, said the plane's co-pilot, Ronald G. Skipper, 34, who survived, had been questioned "only in the most brief fashion."

Skipper's condition was described as satisfactory, but Dunbar said: "We were not able to take a statement in the normal terms. We will be talking with him again."

The university received a condolence telegram from President Nixon saying in part: "We know that the spirit that characterized your team will live on in your lives and memories."

Dr. John B. Breazeale, academic vice president of the school, said it had still to be decided whether Wichita State would complete its varsity football schedule using reserves and perhaps freshmen.

Wichita State was scheduled to play Southern Illinois University Saturday, followed by Cincinnati, Arkansas, Tulsa, Memphis State, North Texas State and Louisville.

Guerrillas Withdrawing, Jordan Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jordanian army sources say Palestinian guerrillas have begun withdrawing from cities in the northern part of the country, but a new agreement allows their militia and supplies to remain, threatening a renewal of the friction that led to the recent fighting.

Under the agreement reached Sunday between guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat and Tunisian Premier Bahl Ladgham, head of an Arab truce team, the commandos will withdraw quickly from Jordanian cities, but their militia and supplies will stay.

Arafat and Ladgham reached the agreement during talks in Ramtha, five miles from the Syrian border, and Irbid, Jordan's second largest city, 10 miles to the west.

According to one of Ladgham's aides, the guerrillas will move their military forces to a base in the mountains near Jarash, close to the Israeli border. But the guerrilla militia, estimated at 25,000, and supply bases and offices in cities will remain. Observers said it would be easy for the guerrilla military forces to filter back after a suitable cooling off period.

The armed guerrillas' defiance of the Jordanian government's control was the underlying cause of the strife which has torn Jordan for months. After the cease-fire which ended the 11-day civil war last month, King Hussein's government said it would permit the guerrillas' militia only if they were disarmed or combined with army forces under army control.

Ladgham said his talks with Arafat, whom he described as "a leader of stature," were frank and cordial. He said Arafat "was exerting his will and emerging as a leader of all tendencies in the guerrilla movement who has his troops in hand."

Ladgham's praise of Arafat's new role ties in with a statement Saturday by the Jordanian government which asserted it will deal only with Arafat's group, Al Fatah, and not with "banned opposition parties who are armed but are masquerading as guerrillas."

The sources said the two colonels went aboard the plane, a Viscount operated by Iraqi Airways, to talk the 47 guerrillas into leaving the country.

The airliner was surrounded by armored cars, tanks and armed troops as soon as it landed. Its passengers were kept inside the cabin.

Airport sources said the guerrillas planned to disembark at Beirut and make their way overland to Jordan.

Unconfirmed reports said several other plane loads of guerrillas had left Iraq for Beirut.

Nixon Concludes Visit to Europe, Optimistic on Mid-East Ceasefire

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

NEWMARKET ON FERGUS, Ireland (AP) — President Nixon, winding up his European tour today, is optimistic about extension of the Middle East cease-fire. And he is ready to increase U.S. naval strength in the Mediterranean if the Russians push him.

"Neither party ... will gain by breaking the cease-fire," Nixon told newsmen at a reception Sunday night at Dromoland Castle. "... Any party at this time that would break the cease-fire initiative would have very, very little support in the world. It would be acting alone against the whole might of the world public opinion ..."

The 90-day cease-fire agreed to by Israel, Egypt and Jordan is scheduled to expire Nov. 5. On Saturday, the President and British Prime Minister Edward Heath agreed to work for a 90-day extension.

Nixon said he visited the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean during his five-nation trip because when there is "unexpected and unpredictable violence, without reason ... there must be military stability and military strength."

While declaring that the 50-ship fleet "presently can meet its mission," Nixon showed concern about the growing Soviet naval force in the area.

Nixon said the 6th Fleet must continue to be able to deter "irresponsible elements in the Mediterranean area." He added:

"In the event that other forces, naval forces, should

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — In a move apparently aimed against deposed chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's national assembly has voted unanimously to end their country's ancient monarchy and replace it with a republic.

The legislators at a joint session said the republic would be proclaimed Oct. 9 and would go into effect Nov. 1. Chief of State Chen Heng leaves Oct. 9 to speak to the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

The switch to a republic is designed chiefly as a blow against Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed chief of state and head of the royal house, who has set up a government-in-exile in Peking. Western political observers said that while the constitutional changes that would result were not yet clear, they doubted that there would be any immediate change in Premier Lon Nol's government or its operations.

Trinity Is Next for the Indians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Trinity Tigers have the unenviable position of playing the No. 1 ranked NCAA small college football team in the nation this weekend—Arkansas State.

To make it worse, the game counts in the Southland Conference standings. It's the SLG opener.

Arkansas State has chewed up three straight opponents. The last was The Citadel in a 24-7 decision last Saturday. Trinity is 2-2 for the season following a 20-9 victory over Davidson.

Other games this week include Eastern New Mexico at Abilene Christian and McNeese State at Lamar Tech. Texas at Arlington has an open date.

The SLG came out with a 3-2 record against outside competition last weekend. In addition to Arkansas State's and Trinity's victories, ACC whipped Northern Colorado 38-7.

The losses were Southern Illinois' 32-16 victory over previously unbeaten Lamar Tech and Texas Lutheran's 17-6 victory over winless UT-Arlington.

Greg Oliver and Earl Costley spearheaded Trinity's victory over Davidson. Oliver picked up 175 yards rushing and Costley got another 120.

Jim Lindsey completed 17 of 33 passes for 357 yards in directing ACC's third victory in four games.

Southern Illinois rallied from a 16-0 deficit to whip Lamar Tech.

Led by its 82-year-old American president, the International Olympic Committee has protested against the increasingly apparent commercialism in skiing and has threatened to remove the sport altogether from the program of the Winter Olympics.

that saw Al Unser win his ninth race on the USAC Championship trail and Bobby Isaac solidify his hold on NASCAR's Grand National standings by winning a 250-miler for stock cars at North Wilkesboro, N.C.

Fittipaldi, brought to the Formula 1 circuit by Lotus designer and team manager Chapman at the start of the season, beat the veteran Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico by 37 seconds at Watkins Glen in a 248-mile race that saw many of the bigger names fail.

Third place went to Reine Wisse of Sweden, making his first Formula 1 start in another of Chapman's Lotus cars. Belgian Jacky Ickx came home fourth in a Ferrari, while fifth place went to Chris Amon of New Zealand in a March-Ford.

Fittipaldi covered the 108 laps over the 2.3-mile course in one hour, 57 minutes and 37 seconds for a race record average speed of 126.79 miles per hour.

Jackie Stewart of Scotland, the defending world champion, led the first 83 laps but had to quit when the engine failed in his March. In addition to his 15th-place finish, worth $6,500, Stewart was voted the Man of the Race and received a bonus of $5,000.

Ickx, who never led, was the only driver in position to overtake the 45 points toward the world driving title compiled by Austrian Jochen Rindt before he was killed in Italy a month ago.

The Belgian needed to win both Sunday's U.S. Grand Prix and the season-ender in Mexico Oct. 25. Having failed, the title automatically goes to Rindt, also a Lotus Pilot, who becomes the first driver ever to win it posthumously.

Fittipaldi said he was glad his win preserved the championship for Rindt.

"He helped me a lot when I came with Lotus. I had hoped I could become as good a driver as Rindt when I started out 14 months ago," he said. "Rindt and Fangio are my idols."

Fangio, the Argentine, retired in 1958 after winning five world titles.

In other races Sunday, Parnelli Jones survived a dust-throwing trip off the tracks early in the Mission Bell 200 to come back and win the final event of the 1970 Trans-American Sedan championship series as Ford Mustangs maintained their mastery.

Jones, 36, of Palos Verdes, Calif., a former Indianapolis 500 champion, drove to his fifth triumph in the 11-race Trans Am series. Jones, from the pole position, led the first five laps before going off the course in a jam at turn No. 9 of the sixth lap over the 2.54-mile Riverside International Raceway course.

He drove back through the dust to resume the race on the 71st lap of the 79-lap event covering 201 miles, and finally regained the front spot from his Mustang teammate, George Follmer, who had been the pacesetter most of the way. Follmer, of Arcadia, Calif., finished second, with Mark Donohue of Newtown Square, Pa., third in his American Motors Javelin.

Monday, October 5, 1970
Ray Hendricks drove a 1967 Camaro at record-breaking speed to win the Double 100 stock car twin bill at Dover Downs International Speedway.

Hendricks, Richmond, Va., won the NASCAR late model-modified 100-miler, averaging 107 miles per hour, taking the checkered flag under the yellow light, the result of a mishap on the 96th lap.

Prior to the caution warning, Hendricks led runnerup Bugsy Stevens, three-time modified champion from Rehoboth, Mass., by 20 seconds. Stevens was also driving a Camaro.

In the second race, Hendricks again edged Stevens, winning by eight seconds.

Bobby Isaac sped past Richard Petty in a stretch duel and won the 10th annual Wilkes 400 NASCAR Grand National stock car race by six car lengths.

Issac's 1970 Dodge surged ahead of Petty's Plymouth near the end of the 250-mile race, 400 laps around the five-eighths-mile asphalt North Wilkesboro Speedway. It was the first North Wilkesboro victory for Isaac.

Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., last May's Indianapolis 500 winner, took the lead on the second lap and stayed in front the rest of the way to win the 20th annual 100-mile Golden State National Champion Big Car Race. George Snider of Bakersfield, Calif., was second.

School Gridders Who Elect to Win

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There's just not enough time in a huddle to vote on whether a trap or a sweep should be run, otherwise the Willits (Calif.) High School football team might try that, too. So the players are resigned to simply casting secret ballots before the game to decide the starting lineup, and they leave the play-call to the quarterback.

"Other coaches think I'm nuts," said Willits coach George Davis.

"Parents of kids who don't win the pregame election think I'm yellow. But the kids think it's great."

Last season, Davis' first at Willits, this unusual social experiment in participatory democracy began like free elections at the Kremlin, a gigantic fizzle. The team lost its first three games.

Then the team got the hang of the voting apparatus and didn't lose another game all season. They tied for the league championship, the first such achievement in the school's history.

Davis, 43, says he has "nothing to lose" and was looking for the best coaching methods to suit his characteristics which, he describes, as "sloppy."

"Technically, I'm not a good football coach," he said. "I'm not a driver. It's not my nature. And those two things have been considered the most important in coaching. If I don't have those things and do well, then what is it? It's motivation!"

Davis says he motivates his players by emphasizing that they're there to have fun. "If a guy misses practice," he said, "I don't make him run laps, or endure any other kind of punishment. I just say to him, 'Gee, you gotta learn this stuff.'"

"I have faith in my players' ability to make a decision," he said. "And they respect me for giving them a choice, both as to who starts and to what plays to use."

"I figure that I've got to let them play their own game on Friday. If I can't coach them during the week to make the right decision on Friday, then what am I getting paid for, anyway?"

The burgeoning of Davis' experiment was when he played linebacker at Southern Cal several years ago. In practice he discovered that the third-string fullback was the best on the team. The coach didn't know this because the coach wasn't trying to tackle that particular fullback.

When Davis became high school coach at St. Helena's (Calif.) in 1960, he tried the experiment, to the quizzical looks of his players. Five years later, the St. Helena's record stood 45-0. From there, Davis coached Napa Junior College for two years and did well, again with the democratic technique. Then he spent two "traditional" years as an assistant coach at the University of Idaho. Last season, he returned to high school coaching.

Surprisingly, Davis, who seems diametrically opposed to the hard-nosed Vince Lombardi school of coaching, is a great admirer of Lombardi. "We're the same," said Davis. "I couldn't do it his way and he couldn't do it mine, but we both believed in what we did."

Willits is a small community in northern California. The school has only about 450 students. There are about 25 players on the football team and often there aren't enough players for a scrimmage. Despite the iconoclastic techniques of the coach, there is a strong will to win. "I'll get mad at them," said Davis. "Damn, I'll tell 'em, you're not doing it right. But we all love it when we grind one of those big schools into the ground. Yes, sir. The human beings beat the machine."

Thinks Race Between People and Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dale Bumpers of Charleston, the Democratic nominee for governor, said Sunday the gubernatorial race was a battle "between the people and the money."

Bumpers, who faces Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and American party nominee Walter Carruth, opened his campaign for the Nov. 3 general election with a speech at a reception attended by 500 to 600 people at Robinson Auditorium here.

About 11,000 persons turned out when Rockefeller, a Republican, formally opened his campaign but Bumpers pointed out that his own opener lacked big-name entertainers, chartered buses, free food and other accouterments of the Rockefeller campaign beginning.

Bumpers said that an attempt by Rockefeller to link him with the "old guard" was "pure, unadulterated nonsense."

Rockefeller said Saturday that Bumpers had extended a hand of welcome to the Democratic runoff loser, former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, and had associated with state Sen. Guy F. "Mutt" Jones of Conway and former state Rep. Paul Van Dalsen of Perryville.

The governor said this made him wonder about Bumpers, since Faubus, Jones and Van Dalsen have been identified by Republicans as members of what the GOP terms the "old guard" machine.

Bumpers defended himself, saying he was the "greatest nonpolitician ever to seek this office in the state," and he called on Rockefeller to "avoid name-calling and get on with a discussion of the issues."

Claims that the issues aren't being discussed have been battled back and forth between Rockefeller and Bumpers.

Detailing his position on certain issues, Bumpers mentioned that he would propose a five-year writeoff for equipment purchased by industry to control pollution.

He said pollution was becoming so great a problem that the state could not afford to put enough people to work to fight it unless industries cooperated in eliminating pollution.

Bumpers also said that he would join a debate with Rockefeller and Carruth if convinced that there would be "constructive dialogue under reasonable circumstances."

Bumpers did not, however, commit himself to a debate. He said that no good purpose would be served if the candidates were only going to argue with each other.

Rockefeller extended the debate offer.

Bumpers also turned an attack on Rockefeller, saying the governor's absences from the office would be an issue in the campaign.

The Democratic nominee said that fiscal problems of the state, a large increase in the number of state-owned vehicles, the financial problems at Arkansas AM&N College, and allegations leading to an investigation of the state Alcoholic

Attacks Courts for Disrupting Education

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. John Bell Williams attacked the federal courts and the Nixon Administration Sunday for disrupting public education in the South.

Williams was among a dozen speakers who addressed some 1,100 persons at a rally sponsored by Freedom of Choice in The United States, (FOCUS), an organization seeking a return to the concept of neighborhood schools.

"A lot of us have been wondering what this 'Southern strategy' really is," Williams told his all-white audience.

"Spiro Agnew has been making a lot of wonderful speeches, but they have been as ineffective as they can be because the President completely forgot his campaign promises after he went into office," Williams said.

"The 'Southern strategy' appears to be to destroy the public schools of the Southern states in order to get the votes of the liberal element of the north," he said.

The platform also included Lt. Gov. Charles C. Sullivan, Atty. Gen. A. F. Summer, U.S. Reps. Thomas Abernathy, Charles Griffin, and G. V. Montgomery, Jackson Mayor Russell Davis, Secretary of state Heber Laddner, and House Speaker John R. Junkin of Natchez.

Other speakers included Don Nicholas of Jackson, chairman of the board of FOCUS, and Dr. Mitchell Young of Texarkana, Tex., president of the Unified Concerned Citizens of America, a national organization of FOCUS-type groups.

Beverage Control Department would not have developed if Rockefeller had "been on top of things."

In a brief news conference that followed the speech, Bumpers was asked if he had grown any closer to the belief that taxes would have to be raised to properly finance state government.

He said that he had heard that the normal growth rate of state revenue for the coming fiscal year was projected at $18 million to $22 million, and that "if that's true we would have to" seek additional money.

Later, however, Bumpers said he would seek tax increases only if normal revenue growth proved to be insufficient, and he declined to say whether he believed a normal growth rate of $22 million would be sufficient or not.

Bumpers said in his speech that in the rest of his campaign he would say essentially the same things he has said in the past.

Dr. Bob Riley, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, and Ray Thornton, Democratic nominee for attorney general, appeared with Bumpers at the reception.

Rock Singer Found Dead in Hotel

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Janis Joplin, a Texas runaway who hit the top as a rock music singer selling millions of records, was found dead Sunday night.

Police said her body, with fresh hypodermic needle marks on the left arm, was found in her Hollywood hotel apartment. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

"There were no drugs in the room, only tequila, vodka and wine," a police spokesman said.

An ambulance attendant said Miss Joplin, 27, was wearing a nightgown and her death "didn't look like foul play. It looked like she had just fallen over."

Miss Joplin was the second rock music star to die in less than a month. Guitarist Jimi Hendrix, who also was 27, was found dead in an apartment in London Sept. 18. A pathologist said he had suffocated from vomiting while unconscious.

Miss Joplin, who lived in the San Francisco suburb of Larkspur, had been here since Aug. 24 to perform for Columbia Records. Her body was found by John Cooke, a guitarist with the Janis Joplin Full Tilt Boogie rock group, police said.

Cooke told officers he became suspicious after not seeing Miss Joplin all day and borrowed a key to check her apartment. Investigators said she had been dead about 12 hours.

Miss Joplin rocketed to stardom after singing the blues classic "Ball and Chain" at the 1967 Monterey, Calif., International Pop Festival.

Her albums which sold a million or more copies included "Cheap Thrills" and "I've Got Dem Ol' Kozmic Blues Again Mama." She was best known for the songs "Maybe," "Kozmic Blues," "One Good Man," "Work Me Lord" "Turtle Blues" and "Piece of My Heart."

She ran away from her Port Arthur, Tex., home at age 17 and after five years of drifting to Houston, New York and Los Angeles, settled in San Francisco where she worked occasionally as a keypunch operator.

One night at a party, she once told an interviewer, she did an imitation of Odette, the blues folk singer.

"I'd never sung before and I came out with this huge voice," she said.

After that she sang with small

Prisoners in New York Free Hostages

NEW YORK (AP) — Prisoners at the last city prison in the hands of inmates bowed to an ultimatum today by Mayor John V. Lindsay and freed three hostages they had held since Thursday.

The hostages at the Long Island City jail, two correction officers and a cook, were turned groups in Texas, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Miss Joplin favored hippie-type garb and drove a Porsche painted with astrological signs and a bloody U.S. flag. She described herself as a beatnik.

She said "beatniks believe things aren't going to get better and say the hell with it, stay stoned and have a good time."

She often drank bourbon while performing and once said of her singing: "It's all feeling. When I'm singing I'm not thinking."

When asked whether her all-out wailing, screaming style might cut short her career, she said: "Maybe I won't last as long as other singers, but I think you can destroy your now by worrying about tomorrow."

loose 13 minutes after a deadline set by Lindsay in a broadcast over local radio stations.

The ultimatum issued at 5:20 a.m., gave the prisoners 30 minutes to hand over the hostages.

Early Sunday, another ultimatum by the mayor had obtained the release of 17 hostages held at the Tombs prison in Manhattan.

The 17 hostages at the Tombs, released unharmed Sunday night following a broadcast ultimatum by Mayor John V. Lindsay, had been held since Friday, the second day of a series of jail takeovers that affected five city detention houses.

Inmates are demanding lower bail, speedier trials and better prison conditions.

Prison guards using clubs and tear gas battled into the Brooklyn and Kew Gardens jails Saturday night and Sunday and regained control. An attempted takeover by inmates at the Rikers Island prison was quelled after half an hour.

Lindsay met with inmates at the Tombs for nearly three hours after they released their hostages and said he agreed that they had "very real grievances."

He said a meeting had been scheduled for Friday with officials of the state Supreme Court system to look into the situation and to speed up trials.

Prisoners had demanded that Lindsay meet with them before releasing hostages, but the mayor refused or insisted the hostages be freed before he would talk with the inmates.

The 17 hostages at the Tombs were freed an hour and a half after a deadline of 10 p.m. set by Lindsay.

The five jails involved in the rebellions house a total of 5,900 prisoners, although all inmates were not participants in the takeovers.

About 200 inmates and a dozen guards were injured—none seriously—in the police assault on the Brooklyn and Kew Gardens jails. The hand-to-hand fighting left the two jails with shattered windows, broken furniture and torn plumbing.

Damage at the Brooklyn jail was estimated at $2 million by a prison official and "in the thousands" of dollars in Kew Gardens.

First Time

The first time the House of Representatives elected a president as a result of a tie in the Electoral College was in 1800. The House, on the 36th ballot, elected Thomas Jefferson president and the second choice, Aaron Burr, became vice-president.

Rickey Leads Five Generations in Tennis Grand Prix

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Cliff Rickey held the lead today in the $20,000 Grand Prix tennis series award, but the little Texan was smarting under a lopsided defeat by Arthur Ashe in the finals of the Pacific Coast International Tennis Championships.

Ashe, seeded second to Rickey, needed only 1½ hours Sunday to win the $6,000 first prize 6-4, 6-2, 6-4. Rickey got $3,000 and runnerup points that gave him a leading total of 45 to Ken Rosewall's 42 in the Grand Prix.

Ashe closed out the first set with a service ace and was off to a 4-1 lead in the second set. In the final set Ashe broke Rickey's service twice in the first three games.

Cliff's sister, Nancy Rickey, No. 3 seed, won the women's singles first prize of $3,000 by downing Rosemary Casals, No. 2 seed, 7-6, 6-4. Miss Rickey had eliminated first-seeded Billie Jean King Saturday, 7-5, 5-7, 6-4.

Win men's doubles Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., and Bob Lutz of Los Angeles won the final from Roy Barth of San Diego and Tom Gorman of Seattle 6-2, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

The women's doubles championship went to Leslie Hunt of Australia and Christy Pigeon of Danville, Calif. on their 6-2, 6-3 victory over Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif. and Judy Dalton of Australia.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bob Sherman of Los Angeles defeated Ed Doane of Leawood, Kan., 6-2, 6-2 to win the men's 50 singles Sunday in a feature match of the National Senior Hardcourt Tennis Tournament.

WR Says Foe Bases Bid on Charisma

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Addressing the state Republican convention here Saturday, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said that his opponent is basing his appeal to the voters on a party label and charisma.

In an obvious reference to his opponent, Democrat Dale Bumpers of Charleston, Rockefeller added that any campaign limited to that type of appeal underestimates voters.

Repeating recent statements, Rockefeller called to Bumpers to reveal a program to the people and become specific on issues in the campaign.

Rockefeller said he did not agree with the views of American party nominee Walter Caruth, but Rockefeller commended Caruth for having convictions and making them known.

The governor also attacked Bumpers' appointment of Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell as the state Democratic party chairman.

"How can a man such as Mr. Purcell, even with his image of impeccable integrity, be an impartial servant to two masters — the Democratic party and all the people of Arkansas?" Rockefeller asked.

Congressman Favors More Tech Schools

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said Sunday that more vocational-technical schools in Arkansas could help keep young people from leaving the state to obtain better jobs and a better education elsewhere.

Hammerschmidt, speaking at dedication ceremonies at the Fayetteville High School West Campus, a vo-tech school, said vocational - technical schools would offer industry skilled workers to lure them to the state and would offer young people a chance to learn the skills.

Hammerschmidt noted that vo-tech students were not the source of violence like the disturbances on college campuses. He also said the myth that everyone needed a college education was being proven wrong.

of authority, reflected in such developments, has been "in precisely the same arrogant style of that which we thought had been turned out of the political scene forever," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller said he was "amazed" that Bumpers had turned down an offer to be briefed by the governor's office on situations in the state.

Bumpers had declined to answer newsmen's questions about the racial situation at Earle on the grounds that he didn't know enough about the circumstances. He turned down the offer of a briefing on the Earle situation, explaining that he was not sure he could trust the source of information.

"I am slow to anger, but I do not take kindly to the implication that I am a liar — or even a gay deceiver," the governor said.

Dan Gurney to Design, Build Cars

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Dan Gurney will design and build race cars, direct racing activities and write a book on the motor sport, yet he says he will never drive competitively again.

The handsome 39-year-old who has won more European Grand Prix races than any other American and has placed second twice and third once in the past three years at the Indianapolis 500, called it quits Sunday.

After placing fifth in the Mission Bell 200, Gurney told newsmen he was stepping down "because I always wanted to retire in one piece."

Originally, he had planned to retire after the Rex Mays 300 at this Riverside International Raceway in December, but stepped up his calendar when that race was canceled during the past week.

Internationally, he is known as a premier driver and also gained acclaim through the design of his Eagle racers which placed first, second and fourth in the 1968 Indianapolis race. Cars using his Gurney-Eagle cylinder heads won at LeMans, France in 1968 and 1969 and cars using his cylinder heads hold two national drag racing records.

Asked if he might drive on a part-time basis, Gurney replied, "No," and explained, "Part-time racing can be very dangerous and you can't be satisfied with your efforts on a part-time basis."

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — Wake Forest, led by U.S. Amateur golf champion Lanny Wadkins, has romped to an 11-stroke victory in the All-Dixie Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Wadkins, with a three-day total of 214, finished as the individual leader Sunday over the par 72, 7,040-yard Mountain View Course at Callaway Gardens. He carded a final round 75 to go with his 72 Saturday and a course record-tying 67 Friday.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association trimmed their squad to the specified limit of 12 Sunday with the release of rookie John Rinka of Kenyon College in Ohio.

The 5-foot-9 guard was the nation's leading college division scorer last year. He was placed on waivers, according to Stars' Coach Bill Sharman.

To Soar High in Sky, Girls Need Poise and Personality

By ERNIE HOOD

Cathy G., Radford, Va., writes: "I am a high school senior. Will you please provide me with information for becoming an airline stewardess?"

Dear Cathy: Young women will have several thousand opportunities to get jobs as stewardesses during the 1970s.

Most of these will occur as girls marry or leave the occupation for other reasons. Despite the large number of applicants, airlines find it difficult to obtain enough young women who can meet their high standards of attractiveness, personality and intelligence.

As a rule, applicants must be 19 to 27 years old, 5 feet 2 to 5 feet 9, with weight in proportion to height (but not exceeding 140 pounds) and in excellent health. They also must have a pleasant speaking voice and good vision.

Major airlines require that stewardesses be unmarried when hired but permit girls to work as stewardesses after they marry. Applicants must have at least a high school education and those with two years of college, nurses' training or experience in dealing with the public are preferred.

Stewardesses who work for international airlines generally must be able to speak an appropriate foreign language fluently.

Note to Mary F., Wakefield, Mass.: For information on opportunities abroad in government service with special reference to engineering and science careers, I suggest you contact the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210.

Don B., Laramie, Wyo., inquires: "Is there much of a future for bank officials?"

Dear Don: Put it this way: Our Bureau of Labor Statistics people expect an expansion of banking activities and also note that because bank officers are somewhat older on the average than most employe groups, a large number will be needed each year to replace those who retire or leave their jobs for other reasons. About 10,000 new bank officers will be needed each year all through the 1970s.

U.S. Labor Department Bulletins are sources of depth information on career fields. They can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. For the airline stewardess category, ask for Bulletin 1650-117, priced at 20 cents. For bank officer information, ask for Bulletin 1650-124, priced at 15 cents.

UN Urged to Use Older Men in Army

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Saudi Arabia's delegate to the United Nations is proposing that the General Assembly urge military service for men 35 to 50 so young conscientious objectors won't be "commanded prematurely to sacrifice their lives."

Ambassador Jamil M. Baroudy, who is 65 and has a 17-year-old son, planned to submit the resolution today to the assembly's social committee. The committee is discussing ways to develop respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms in young people.

Baroudy told newsmen delegates from the smaller countries have commended his proposal but the big powers were cool to it.

The resolution calls on U.N. members: —"To refrain from coercing any youth to join the armed forces of his country if such youth conscientiously objects to being involved in the act of killing."

—"Only to enlist in the armed forces those youths who volunteer strictly to defend their country from flagrant aggression."

The text does not make clear whether the reference to volunteers is intended to rule out conscription entirely. But it urges member countries "to prevail upon adults between 35 and 50 years of age to enlist in the armed forces for legitimate self-defense."

That should be done, the resolution said, "in order to give the opportunity to the youth of the world to develop academically, culturally and vocationally before being commanded prematurely to sacrifice their lives."

—Urges "mothers and other women of all nations to play an effective role in formulating national policies concerning war and peace."

—Recommends that governments "study the feasibility of a referendum of the people, including youth, before declaring or waging war."

—Asks scientists "to explore effective ways and means for preventing the use of their in-

Bill to Kill Pay TV Dies in House

By ROBERT A. HUNT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill opponents say would have all but killed pay television appears to be dead in a House committee.

Last April the House Commerce Committee approved a measure which was designed to impose stringent regulations on pay TV. In May, the bill went to the House Rules Committee for further action, but there is where it remains. And observers feel it will go no further.

Opponents of the bill said it would have torn apart the basic ingredients of a successful pay TV plan. The bill's guidelines were much tougher than those laid down by the Federal Communications Commission.

The pending House measure would impose an absolute ban on commercial advertising. A sharp reduction in the showing of feature films and sports — considered the backbone of such a system — also is part of the bill, as is. Another provision extends from two to five years the pay TV ban on showing sports programs which regularly have been carried live on conventional television.

"This is mischievous legislation dictated by powerful interest groups—the broadcasters and theater owners," a dissenting group of House Commerce Committee members said in a report on the pending bill.

"This is mischievous legislation dictated by powerful interest groups—the broadcasters and theater owners," a dissenting group of House Commerce Committee members said in a report on the pending bill.

As drafted, they said, the bill "would kill this new industry aborning."

But the committee's majority argued the regulations set out by the bill "are the most effective means for ensuring that the programming now offered on conventional television will remain available to the viewing public without charge."

In August the FCC approved the subscription television plan of Zenith Radio Corp.—the first pay TV technical system to get a go-ahead.

The FCC action means licenses of pay TV may use Zenith's Phonevision system, which

Group Seeks Aid in School Appeals Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Citizens for Neighborhood Schools solicited support and financial help Sunday in their fight to delay the 8th District U.S. Court of Appeals decision on the Little Rock school desegregation case.

In an advertisement in a Little Rock newspaper, the group said they intended to oppose busing to achieve a racial balance. They also said that they were against forcing a student to attend a school because of race, but also were not in favor of a student being barred from a school because of race.

The group, composed mainly of businessmen, said they favor the neighborhood plan of school attendance.

The organization is seeking to delay a decision by the appeals court in the case.

MAKIN' MUSIC — Good idea for other establishments around the country comes from New York's Downbeat, where owner Larry Ellman is opening the place up to college music conferences one afternoon each month. The first one kicked off with reps from New Jersey colleges talking over what's happening on the college music scene and listening to illustration (we'll have more to say about them later). Conference dates will continue with reps from Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, etc. Be a nice idea if places in the South, Midwest, etc., followed suit as a public service to help the college reps keep in touch with each other (and also give them an idea on some of the good new groups worth booking).

MORE ILLUSTRATION — Like we said, we picked up on illustration at the Downbeat and based on hearing them live (twice) and listening to their record, we have to conclude that the big band (they're into the Blood, Sweat and Tears type thing) is going to make it very big. Check out their LP called Illustration (what else?), and see what you think. Favorite cuts for us were "The Road" (written by lead singer Billy Ledster) and "Home."

RISKY STUFF — Experts in the field are worried about the fact that young people don't know that much about life insurance. You will need it, you know, and it seems like there are things like low-rate group insurance that you can get without belonging to a group (if you happen to be anti-social). Worth finding out about while you're still alive and kicking (which is not a plug for one of our favorite rock groups, although they're worth plugging).

TIME CHECK — Ben Franklin, that groovy old guy who wore granny glasses, thought up the idea of Daylight Saving Time, but it didn't get going until 200 years after (well, there are still people around who think rock 'n' roll is going to go away). The easy way to remember what to do when it comes time to do things with the clock is like so — Spring Ahead and Fall Back. So, if you happen to be up at 2 a.m. Oct. 25, you can turn back the old Spiro Agnew timepiece to 1 a.m. and pick up another hour of whatever it was you were doing in the first place.

UP AND COMIN' — New group with Atlantic called Papa Mebo (yet to record) looks like a real good one. Sort of sounds like a cross between Traffic and Canned Heat. Mike Packer is the leader and writes most of the material for the group. . . . Ronnie Millsap's "Loving You Is a Natural Thing" made it into Record World's Top 100 list and seems on the way to being a big one. Keep you posted on how it's going.

GETTING STUCK — Tell us one reason why you want some Silly String and/or Superelasticbubbleplastic and if we dig your answer the most, we'll send you some.

BOOK NOOK — Good reading for those who are fighting a weight problem is Nancy Gould's "How to Gorge George Without Fattening Fanny," a cook book, as you may have gathered. Nancy is a fashion model who once managed to gain 44 pounds and eat herself right out of business, so she has some great ideas about how to eat. Since she eventually lost the 44 pounds, she has some good ideas on diet, too. Anyway, the book is fun to read even if you don't lose 44 pounds.

Plain train talk

These three gentlemen constitute the Emergency Board recently appointed by President Nixon to hear a train crew controversy that had resulted in a strike. Left to right these board members are: James C. Vadakin, a University of Miami professor; Frederick R. Livingston (chairman), a New York attorney, and Willoughby Abner of Chicago, a mediator and former United Auto Workers official.

After extensive hearings and attempts to mediate the controversy between Railroad Labor and Managements, this impartial board made specific recommendations in its report to the President of the United States on August 6, 1970.

One of the recommendations was that the United Transportation Union should give its commitment that it will not oppose repeal of state full-crew laws.

Yet in spite of this recommendation,
the United Transportation Union (U.T.U.)
in Arkansas is actively opposing repeal of these obsolete laws, passed in 1907.

Why?

The railroads have guaranteed that no person will lose his employment in his class of service in his seniority district because of the passage of Act 1.

This is 1970 - not 1907.
